ABOUT LEXGAZE

LexGaze Law Review and Blog (“LexGaze”) is a synergic endeavour of practicing legal luminaries and young law students with one objective at its heart- creating and promoting quality research work that pushes for much-needed reforms in the realm of law. Our goal is not merely academic work, but scholarship that reflects both legal reality and academic perception, one that deals with the challenges of public life and has real-life implications of a substantive degree.

In the committed pursuit of our objective stated above, we at LexGaze have instituted a large number of initiatives since our inception. We started out as a journal and blogging website- publishing, promoting and encouraging quality content. With the COVID-19 pandemic that compelled us to look beyond the usual, we also realised our potential to move beyond writing and engage in other activities, such as explainers, case briefs, panel discussions & interviews, and a whole lot more.

Today after having conducted educative talks with experts on our show Between the Lines on YouTube and organising a celebrated case-comment writing competition in association with SCC Online and Eastern Book Company (EBC), and after the resounding success of the first two workshops of LexGaze, one of them dealing with the practical aspects of the CrPC and the other with research and writing, a large number of students wrote to us requesting more such workshops be conducted covering other fields of law. When polled, most students and practitioners showed their interest in learning “Evidence Law”

“The absence of evidence is not the evidence of absence”

MS SHRIYA MAINI, ADVOCATE-ON-RECORD, THE HONOURABLE SUPREME COURT OF INDIA AT NEW-DELHI AND CELEBRATED CRIMINAL LAWYER

Ms. Shriya Maini is an award-winning lawyer practicing at the Supreme Court of India, the Delhi High Court and District Courts/tribunals dispute resolution (civil, criminal and matrimonial) and has been accredited with numerous publications.

A gold medallist from Gujarat National Law University, Ms. Maini post-graduated in laws from the University of Oxford, U.K., and is also a Visiting Professor for Women and Child Laws and International Crimes at National Law University, Delhi, NLU Nagpur and Lloyd Law College, Noida. She currently serves as an external member on the Internal Complaints Committee at Lloyd Law College, Noida.

Prior to establishing her independent practice, Ms Maini worked as an Associate at Amarchand and Mangaldas & Suresh A Shroff and Co. Ms. Maini also holds the distinguished feat of working as an Associate with the Mechanism for International Criminal Tribunals under Judge Theodor Meron at The Hague.

With the rich and diverse experience that Ms. Maini comes with in International and domestic criminal laws, the present workshop is set to be an enriching experience for all participants.

ABOUT THE WORKSHOP

A large number of students who we spoke to expressed their concern about how evidence law as a discipline when taught in law schools covers only theoretical aspects, and completely misses the practical. Students told us that there exists a vast gap between what is taught in law schools generally, and what they witness in their internships or traineeships. Taking note of this concern, we at LexGaze resolved to conduct a workshop that deals exclusively with the PRACTICE OF EVIDENCE LAW.

What kinds of evidence are admissible in a court of law and what aren't? What even is hearsay? What does “Res gestae” mean really? Hold on, what is “fact”? Never thought that something as simple as “fact” could mean so much more? What is this web???

Well, these are questions you will find answers to in what will be an experience like none other, with over four hours of teaching focussed on evidence law in action, and not in books! Naturally, considering the vast canvas to be covered, four hours is not enough, and accordingly, the workshop will be divided in two parts, with the second part set to be launched in the next month or later!!

WORKSHOP OUTLINE

DAY 1

JUNE 25, 2021

05:00 PM to 07:00 PM

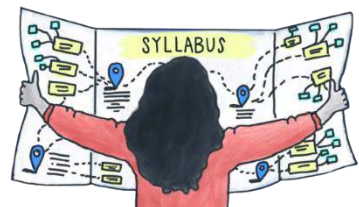

What is Evidence and why is it SO important?	A brief discussion on what evidence means, why it is absolutely important for one to be thorough with the provisions of the Indian Evidence Act, whether they are practicing on Civil, Criminal or Commercial sides
The mammoth called "FACTS"	Discussion on what does FACT really mean, not just in theory but in practicality- how to identify relevant facts and facts you can use in court of law
Proved, Disproved, Not Proved, May, Shall and Conclusive Proof	Discussion on all of the above terms with practical examples on what amounts to proving, disproving etc
Relevance and Admissibility	Probably one of the most important discussions on Day1, we will talk about which facts are relevant and which aren't, which you can use in court and which you cannot
Circumstantial Evidence	Discussion on what is circumstantial evidence, how you can win cases JUST by circumstantial evidence too, practical examples
Admission and Confession	Detailed Discussion on Admission and Confession, what the terms mean, how are they different, which admissions and confessions are admissible, and links with CrPC
Dying Declaration	Through important cases such as Nirbhaya and Unnao rape cases, learn what dying declaration is and all about its admissibility
Expert Opinions	Learn about the weight of Expert opinions, how they can make or break your case

Conduct and Character of Parties	Learn the relevance of the conduct and character of parties in evidence law, how it affects the cases in practice
